

The Brave Mermaid's Big Adventure

By Shaurya Chhabra

Deep in a bedroom filled with wonders, a special hero sat upon a shelf. She wasn't made of bubbles or seafoam, but of bright, sturdy 3D-printed layers. Her name was Filly, and she was ready for a quest. She looked right at you, waved her tiny plastic hand, and shouted with a wink, "Read meh!"

Filly dove into the deep, blue carpet-ocean, where the shadows grew long.
Suddenly, a massive shadow loomed! It was Finnegan the shark, with teeth like jagged rocks. He snapped his jaws, but Filly didn't blink. She spun in a shimmering circle, using her tail to create a whirlpool that sent the big

Beyond the coral reefs of the hallway, two grumpy sentinels blocked the path. These were the Great Hopper Frogs. The first one, Spot, was as black as midnight and covered in bright yellow dots. He puffed out his chest and let out a loud, "CROAK!" to stop her in her tracks.

Filly wasn't intimidated by the guards. As the second frog, Dot—who was snowy white with yellow spots—hopped forward, Filly gathered all her 3D-printed strength. With a mighty cry, she delivered a big PUNCH! The force was so strong that both frogs tumbled backward into the lily pads, clearing

The water turned cold as she reached the Misty Marsh. Out of the fog emerged a terrifying sight: Croca, the giant white crocodile. His scales were as pale as a ghost, and his eyes glowed with a hungry light. He opened his mouth wide, but Filly stood her ground, ready for her next move.

After outsmarting the crocodile, Filly climbed onto dry land. Ahead of her rose the jagged towers of a haunted castle. The windows looked like hollow eyes, and the gate creaked as it swung open. Even though her plastic heart was thumping, Filly floated through the entrance, determined to

Inside the castle's Great Hall, the air was chilly. Suddenly, a flickering light appeared. It wasn't a candle, but a ghost named Ember! Ember wasn't white like a sheet; he was a swirling mist of bright red and fiery orange. He floated down from the rafters, looking more lonely than scary.

Filly realized that Ember just wanted a friend to play with in the big, empty castle. She shared stories of the shark and the spotted frogs, and Ember performed spectacular light shows against the stone walls. The haunted castle didn't feel so scary anymore now that Filly had made a new,

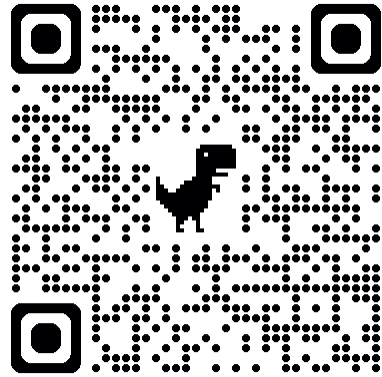

About the Author:

Shaurya Chhabra is a creative Grade 3 student with a big imagination. Shaurya loves to bring stories to life, not just on paper, but through the magic of 3D printing. One day, Shaurya wants to make amazing toys that tell their own stories to children all over the

PlaySpace
INNOVATIONS
Where Learning Meets Play

Scan QR to fill feedback and helps us create joyful, meaningful learning experiences for children.